Appendix II – Rubrics for Each Level of Achievements

Project Presentation Rubric

Areas of Achievements	No progress (F) 0	Unacceptable (D) 1 point	Basic (C) 2 points	Good (B) 3 points	Excellent (A) 4 points
I. Technical Content – Relevance and accuracy	No progress	• Irrelevant or inappropriate details • Contains major inaccuracies	• Covers main points but with limited facts and few details; • May contain minor inaccuracies.	• Relevant and appropriate details • Statements or positions communicated clearly and accurately, with no major omissions.	• Relevant and appropriate details. • Statements or positions communicated clearly and strongly supported with accurate details
II. Technical Knowledge – depth and breath	• Fails to address basic technical concepts • Provides fundamentally inaccurate answers	• Explains some of the underlying principles during the talk • Answers a few technical questions, but answers are inaccurate	• Explains most of the underlying principles during the talk • Answers contain minor inaccuracies.	• Fully explains the underlying principles during the talk • Answers are clear and accurate	• Fully and rigorously explains the underlying principles during the talk • Answers are clear and accurate and can answer challenging technical questions
III. Delivery - Organization, preparation and effectiveness of delivery	No progress	• Appears uncomfortable & not confident in most parts of presentation • Little evidence of organization & preparation • Awkward and frequent errors in sentence structure; poor English and consistently referring to notes.	• Appears comfortable in only parts of the presentation • Some evidence of organization & preparation • Some errors in sentence structure; English just comprehensible and often referring to notes.	• Appears comfortable in most parts of the presentation • Evidence of organization & preparation • Correct sentence structure; proficiency in English demonstrated with some referral to notes.	• Confident & relaxed throughout the presentation • Clear evidence of organization and presentation • Sentence structure consistently correct; good English with occasional referral to notes.
IV. Delivery - Style, pacing and body language; Time management	No progress	• Inappropriate separation from audience, no eye contact & communication appears distant • Distractive body stance & use of hands • Noticeably exceed or fall short of the time allotted	• Body stance, eye contact & proximity to audience indicate some discomfort with the audience • Distractive hand gestures • Speaker either rushes or rambles excessively to meet the time allotted. Time frame is "approximately" met.	• Body stance, eye contact & proximity to audience indicate comfort with the subject and the audience • Hand gestures emphasize major points • The speaker uses time allotted, but the presentation is slightly rushed or delayed.	• Body stance, eye contact & proximity to audience indicate confidence and comfort with the subject and the audience. • Hand gestures facilitate communication • Comfortably uses the time allotted, without evidence of compensation.